

Substance Abuse Treatment is Essential During the COVID-19 Pandemic

Here's How We Adjusted

For those already recovering or struggling with drug and alcohol addiction, the pandemic—and the isolation, inability to congregate, financial loss, and anxiety it brings—can lead to substance abuse as a coping mechanism. That's why we recognize our substance abuse treatment is an essential business. People with addiction issues cannot wait for treatment during this time. The crisis isn't going away anytime soon, and we're here for the long haul.

Dallas Innovates spoke with Dr. Madeline Andrew, Enterhealth Ranch Medical Director, about how we have adapted during the pandemic and how we can support each other during this time. Learn more about why we have continually stayed open for you:
